

To whom it may concern,

We look forward to staff from your organization attending our two day Facilitator Training. The training will cover a myriad of topics including how to implement AWWB's research informed Arc of Healing and Workshop Structure. The training is experiential and immersive. Attendees will be given the opportunity to participate in six hands-on art workshops empowering them to lead from an experiential rather than theoretical perspective. After each art workshop, trainees explore how they will modify the art workshops to best serve their specific population and setting.

Over the 30 years of providing these trainings we found that, because of the experiential nature of the training, it's ideal if trainees are completely relieved of any other duties during the two training days as that best supports their ability to be fully present. We also understand this is not always possible and honor that each trainee will do whatever works best for them/their organization.

We welcome any questions and can be reached at trainings@awbw.org.
